

Be Connected for Success

Hi <<Firstname>> How's it going? This is _____. Hey look, I'm calling to make things right with you and... really to ask you for forgiveness.

I feel really bad about the way I approached you about _____. I was really new in the business... and excited... and wasn't really thinking about your needs,

I feel like I may have put a damper on our relationship by giving you an incomplete picture of what's going on. You made up your mind on that information, and I just don't want you coming back to me a year from now saying, "How come you didn't let me in on that?"

So <<Firstname>>, you are not coming off my list... until you take a look!!

And if you take a look at the whole picture and you say it's not for you, I promise I'll never talk to you about it again!