

<<Firstname>>, It's really not about that at all; It's about your goals and your desire to change your situation. It's about whether or not you're serious about _____.

I can't even answer that question because you could be losing $300-$600 a month just in tax advantages alone because you DON'T have a home business! The question really should be, "How much is it costing me every day I wait before starting my home based business?"

Have you been to the LMSuccess website yet? Everything is explained there.

The lowest entry is $9.95 and then you need to do $25CV/month each month on autoship to qualify for all the commissions. And of course you're going to want to buy samples to give out, but you don't have to. It just makes it easier.

I don't know if you have looked at any other businesses, but most of them have entry fees of at least $50 and require a minimum autoship of $50-$100 a month and some even more! The thing is, for the $25/month you're going to get a product you need, that's going to benefit you and your family.

You know, I'm glad you asked this because this is the strongest part of the opportunity. There are millions of people who have tried Networking in the past and weren't successful because it was too expensive for them and too expensive for anyone they talked to. That means that if you're in an opportunity like that, you're probably not going to talk to too many people.

That's the scenario that most companies have established. But what it means for us is this:

There's an amazing thing about network marketers. They will always keep the dream alive even if they haven't found the right company yet. They have seen others work their way up and succeed and they know they could do it too. It seems as though they're waiting for the right opportunity to come their way. And there are millions of people that feel that way. We have seen the dream come back alive so many times for so many! Affordability really is the key that make this an outstanding and exciting opportunity. There are a lot of people joining because of this!

If you could plug into those people, they know people, who know people, who know people who tried networking before. This is breathing new life and hope into all those people. That right there is a huge almost untapped market because no company is as easy or as affordable as the one we have right here! Do you know of anyone who has tried network marketing over the last twenty years?

You really need to go the website where you can get more information about this!
